Customer Reviews

I just took my DAT two days ago. Before the test I came to this website to read what people have wrote about the TOPSCORE product and the DAT in general. It seems that everyone thinks that the real DAT is much easier than the practice tests. Before taking the DAT I took the Kaplan course, and bought the TOPSCORE CD ROM. I must say that TOPSCORE is a great tool regardless of anything. The test on that CD ROM are of good quality. I was scoring consistently 25 on organic chem, 20 on general chem, 20-21 on Biology, 18 on math, 20-21 on reading, and 22-23 on

PAT. Some of my "practice test" scores like Organic, reading and PAT, never deviated from 25, 21, 23 respectively. So I came to this website and developed a notion through reading of other reviews that the real test would be just like the practice test ADA supplies. It was not the case at all, I thought that the real test was more difficult than any of the practice test I took before. Reading was crazy, the articles they gave on the real test were pretty hardcore. Also the organic chemistry portion was pretty difficult. The monitor wasn't "super high resolution monitor" that ADA claims it to be. So when the PAT part came a lot of times it was difficult to see intricate details about the object in the monitor. I am disappointed with my overall score of Academic - 18, PAT - 20. These are certainly not the scores I was getting on practice tests. The advice I would give to other students is this: 1) Understand that real DAT is NOT easier than the practice test on TOPSCORE. It is not MUCH harder, but it is not easier. 2) STUDY THE WHOLE SUBJECT. That way when you get asked something you know how to approach the question from any angle. A good example is trigonometry.
